

bio-pod™

Elegant, practical, natural, bio-degradable.

Amidst an ever-increasing awareness of environmental issues, a shift toward simpler greener funerals, and the emergence of natural burial grounds in Australia, the revolutionary bio-pod™ meets the growing demand for a practical, elegant alternative to traditional coffins.

The pleasing lines of its organic 'seed pod' shape reflect the very essence of nature - the beginning and end of life. The bio-pod™ provides a practical, symbolic way for the physical remains to be returned to the earth naturally, with style and dignity.

On the outside, the strong, protective layers of natural jute and hemp are tastefully embellished with a selection of embroidered designs. Inside, the ingenious bio-active liner meets the most stringent practical and legal requirements.

Using the specially crafted church bearer, the bio-pod™ can be easily moved on existing roller systems in hearses, take its position on a wheeled trolley, or be carried by pall bearers from the church or chapel in the traditional manner. At the graveside, carry bars slide into place allowing pall bearers or funeral staff to position the bio-pod™ at the graveside with ease and safety.

No matter where you live, no matter whether you're motivated by environmental challenges, or simply attracted to the idea of a natural, gentle return to the earth, the bio-pod™ represents a truly elegant choice.

jute

Above, the original jute bio-pod™ shown here on the rosewood bearer board, and below, from the Icon range the 'Peace' bio-pod™.

Some of the images available in our 'Reflections' and 'Icon' ranges

The images shown here are indicative of the bio-pod™ range but specific designs and materials may vary

Hemp bio-pod™